

What I enjoy about nature...

Why I Enjoy Exploring the Outdoors...

I love to explore nature because I love all of the animals that I can find. Last year, two geese and two ducks came into our yard. They were there on and off during the spring and summer. Then, they migrated. I then focused on animals like bunnies, deer, and the occasional squirrel. I took photos of them, and, sometimes, drew pictures of them. Soon, it was spring again. The first time I saw the geese again I was on my bus coming home from school. I was so excited! Of course, they came flying to my yard when my brother and I got off at our house. I'm their favorite person because I feed them. They never hiss or honk at me. They've been coming here for 2 years now, and I hope they have eggs. So, I guess I love exploring outside because of all of the animals! I love you animals!
